

The President's Budget Makes the Wrong Choices for North Dakota's Middle Class Families

80,000 North Dakotans Could See Retirement Benefit Cuts Under President's Privatization

Proposal. President Bush has again snuck a big Social Security privatization plan in his budget that, if enacted, would result in millions of middle-income workers receiving little or no Social Security benefits in retirement. In North Dakota, 80,000 beneficiaries could be subject to an annual benefit cut of $6,472 under the President's private account plan, according to an analysis by the House Ways and Means Committee. ### President's Health Care Proposal Will Squeeze North Dakota's Middle Class With More Costs and Less Coverage.

The President's health insurance proposal will not help the vast majority of North Dakota's 71,000 uninsured, will not address rising health care premiums that have increased 87 percent since 2000, and would eventually impose a new health insurance tax on many North Dakota middle class families. The President's proposal would also weaken traditional employer-sponsored health insurance, which covers 345,000 North Dakota workers and their families, by extending the current tax incentive for such group coverage to coverage in the more costly individual market. ### Huge Medicare Cuts Would Endanger North Dakota's 103,000 Medicare Beneficiaries' Access to Quality Care and Impose New Tax on Seniors.

The administration's budget includes $78 billion in Medicare and Medicaid cuts and billions in new premiums that threaten to endanger North Dakota's 103,000 Medicare patients' access to the care they need to lead healthy, independent lives. Under the President's plan, more and more North Dakota Medicare beneficiaries would have to pay higher premiums for coverage of prescription drugs and doctors' services, and fees paid to home health agencies, hospitals and nursing homes would be substantially reduced. The administration's budget also assumes that an 8-percent Medicare reimbursement cut for doctors scheduled to go into effect next year will not be reversed. ### Underfunding of State Grants for Children's Health Care Could Add to the Ranks of North

Dakota's 15,000 Uninsured Kids. While the President's budget would slightly increase the federal contribution to the State Children's Health Insurance Program (SCHIP), it is $10 billion less than is needed to merely continue covering the children already enrolled in SCHIP and would give North Dakota less money to cover its neediest children. Further cuts will undermine a program critical to raising healthy and economically secure children and risk adding to the ranks of North Dakota's nearly 15,000 uninsured kids. North Dakota's 58,000 Veterans Could Be Hurt By VA Funding Shortfalls. Nearly half of the military servicemen and women serving in Iraq and Afghanistan will require health care services for the physical and psychological traumas of war, yet the President's budget again underfunds the Department of Veterans Affairs. The budget requests approximately $34.2 billion for veterans health care, a 6-percent increase over the 2007 funding level of $32.3 billion in the continuing budget resolution. The VA has testified in the past that the Veterans Health Administration requires a minimum annual increase of 13-14 percent to meet the rising costs from medical inflation and increasing demand. Without adequate funding, the VA health care system will find it more difficult to provide quality care for North Dakota's 58,000 veterans and troops returning from Iraq and Afghanistan. Aid for North Dakota's College Students Whacked Again; University of North Dakota Tuition Up 59 Percent in Four Years. Over the course of their lifetime, college graduates will earn $1 million more than high school graduates, and college graduates are more likely to have jobs that offer employer-sponsored health care and retirement benefits. Yet the President's budget again freezes funds for key college programs like work study and zeroes out Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants (SEOG). In 2006, North Dakota received $3.3 million in federal college work study funds and $2.8 million in SEOG grants. As tuition and fees at schools like University of North Dakota increase 59 percent in just four years, the administration's cuts in student aid will put college further out of reach for many North Dakota students. Funding for North Dakota Terrorism Prevention and Disaster Response Slashed by Millions. The President's budget again slashes programs that help North Dakota's local governments prevent and respond to acts of terrorism and other major disasters. The State Homeland Security Grant Program, which awarded $41.4 million to North Dakota from 2003 through 2006, was cut to $187 million nationally. The Bush administration also attempts to eliminate the Law Enforcement Terrorist Prevention Program (LETPP) by reducing the national funding level from $384 million in 2006 to just $263 million. North Dakota received $10.7 million from 2004 through 2006 in LETPP funding for terrorism prevention, intelligence gathering, and interoperable communications. [President Bush FY2008 Budget; Federal Funds Information for States Database; Department of Justice]

Programs to Keep North Dakota's Neighborhoods Safe Lose Millions in Federal Funding. The President's budget again attempts to eliminate two of North Dakota's local crime fighting tools—the Community Oriented Policing Service (COPS) program and Justice Assistance Grants (JAG). COPS helps North Dakota's law enforcement agencies hire police officers, enhance crime fighting technology, and support crime prevention initiatives, while JAG supports state and local drug task forces, community crime prevention programs and prosecution initiatives. In 2006, North Dakota received $795,000 in JAG funding and $2.4 million in COPS funding that it used to keep neighborhoods safer for North Dakota families. Budget Turns a Blind Eye to Global Warming; Carbon Emissions in North Dakota Have Increased 16 Percent Since 1990. The President's budget once again ignores global warming, despite his first-ever remarks on climate change in the State of the Union two weeks ago. But despite the decisive scientific evidence that unabated carbon emissions will cause increasing world-wide temperatures, dangerous weather disruptions, and serious economic costs from global climate change, this administration is not funding a single new proposal likely to reduce carbon emissions from their current levels. This failure to act is all the more serious as new links are being drawn between carbon emissions and asthma among school-aged children and heart disease among women. Carbon emissions have increased 16 percent in North Dakota since 1990. Another Round of Cuts to Community Investments Could Slow Economic Development in North Dakota. After being saved by Democrats in Congress two years in a row, the Community Development Block Grant Program (CDBG) is once again on the President's chopping block. The CDBG program is a signature program for North Dakota's cities, counties and local communities to create jobs, spur economic development and small business opportunities and expand homeownership. North Dakota's CDBG funding is being reduced by $1.9 million from its 2006 funding level of $6.4 million. By cutting CDBG, the President's budget would undermine the economic well-being of North Dakota's communities and the future generations that live there. [President Bush's Budget, FY2008; Federal Funds Information for States Database; National League of Cities]
